U. S. OFFICIALS INVESTIGATE
Passenger Train Derails Near
Waukesha—Sand and Gravel
Packed Near Rails

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—A wreck just west of Waukesha on the Chicago and North-Western train due at Milwaukee from Madison at 11 o'clock, bearing "Red Arrow" men here from the Thirty-second division gathering at Madison, caused the death of Harry True, engineer, Baraboo, and serious injury to a number of others. It is not known whether any other passengers were killed. Six "Red Arrow" men are said to be severely injured. The engine tender, baggage car and two passenger coaches were hurled into a ditch.

Four or five men who were working on the track at the time are said to be missing. It is thought they are pinned beneath the wreckage.

Henry Stroud, chief of the bureau of investigation of the federal department of justice, received information at noon which indicated the wreck had been plotted.

Sand and gravel, he said had been placed under the rails and packed so that the flanges of the wheels striking it would derail the train.

ONLY 13 OF 322 ON
ITATA WERE SAVED

and Families, Sank in 5 Minutes

By Associated Press
San Diego, Calif.—Latest wireless reports from the Cruiser Chacabuco are to the effect that only 13 persons of the 322 aboard the steamship Itata were rescued when the vessel sank off Coquimbó Tuesday. The Chacabuco is rushing the survivors to Coquimbó where crowds like the mole awaiting their arrival.

It is understood the Itata was an old vessel, recently repaired and that she was carrying a large number of laborers and their families to the nitrate plants of Chuquibambá. The other passengers were traders.

The account from the Chacabuco says the Itata was caught in a severe gale at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and was capsized by the heavy sea due to her overloaded condition. The vessel went down in five minutes.

CAPITAL NOT IN HURRY FOR DRASTIC ACT

Watchful Waiting Policy Adopted
At Washington In Labor Crux

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1922, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Hope springs eternal in the governmental mind, and just now that hope is administration policy, namely that the industrial situation somehow will right itself without drastic action.

No definite alternative has been decided upon. Talk of seizure of mines and railroads is still talk. Congress is quietly steering the safe course of keeping hands off while the chief executive and his cabinet officers endeavor to use their influence to bring about meetings, conferences, discussions and all kinds of peace overtures. As for legislation until Mr. Harding demands it, congress will not take the initiative.

WATCHFUL WAITING POLICY
In a nutshell, the whole governmental attitude is one of waiting. Every day brings some new reason for waiting. Wednesday it is the hope, in fact the optimistic hints that the anthracite strike will be settled within a few days.

As for the soft coal situation, the government feels that enough fuel is assured as a result of the Cleveland treaty of peace to make government interference unnecessary provided the coal can be transported. There the railroad shippers' strike enters the picture. Stories of sabotage on the railroads are filtering in. One tale relates how 15,000 tons of coal was loaded on a Kentucky road by nonunion miners and was ready for shipment as soon as equipment could be obtained and the discovery was made that every bit of those between the wheels had been tampered with.

ROAD EQUIPMENT POOR
Equipment for trains is deteriorating, according to the statistics of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The federal government is not trying, however, to force a remedy. It is waiting for the railroads and shippers to get together or exhaust their respective powers of endurance.

If the public finds it dangerous to travel, this will be a factor in public opinion which the administration will recognize when the time comes but no hubbalooboo is being made sufficient in volume to cause the administration to use extreme tactics.

MRS. CARUSO'S FATHER
DISINHERITS CHILDREN

By Associated Press
New York—The children of Park Benjamin with the exception of Mrs. Enrico Caruso, who is in Italy will confer here this week to decide whether to attempt an upset of the will of their father, which cut them off with $1 each and denounced them as having acted less as children than as parasites.

Mrs. Caruso went against the wishes of her father in marrying the famous tenor in 1905 will return next month from Italy. She is in accord with her brothers and sisters in their attitude toward the father's will, it was said.

It is to Mrs. Caruso's former companion and governess that most of her father's estate estimated to exceed $500,000 would eventually go under the terms of the will. The former governess Anna Bolchi Benjamin was adopted as a daughter by Mr. Benjamin in 1909 and his will spread upon the public records said she had given him the filial devotion denied him by his own children.

FIRE CUTS HOPE
OF SAVING MINERS

Comrades Working Desperately to Reach 48 Men En-
tombbed Since Sunday

By Associated Press
Jackson, Calif.—Hope of rescue for the prisoners of the Argonaut mine waned Wednesday. Picked miners of the Mother Lode country, working desperately, battered away at the wall of slate that separates the Kennedy mine from the Argonaut at the 3,600 foot level. Beyond that wall are the 48 who have waited helplessly since fire above them cut off their escape at midnight Sunday.

Ten men from the United States Bureau of Mine rescue crew have been going down in the burning mine in relays. Wednesday morning they reported they had again reached the 2,700 foot level from which a crew was driven Tuesday. The smoke was so intense there and the fire was so reported raging fiercely below that point. The flames are said to be gradually creeping up the shaft.

DE VALERA MUST GIVE UP, IRISH DETERMINE

By Associated Press
London—Michael Collins' death has strengthened the determination of the provisional Irish Free State government of the present rebellion except on terms of unconditional surrender, says the Daily Mail's Dublin correspondent.

The writer adds that he learns there is not a member of the government who would not rather resign office than be a party to any settlement with Eamon DeValera which did not mean complete surrender.

William T. Cosgrave, he understands, will be president of the Dail Eireann and premier. Another decision tacitly made is that no minister shall hold two posts in the cabinet. This means that if Mr. Cosgrave becomes Dail president and premier he will relinquish the ministry of the local government.

MEN FIRM AS SHOP STRIKE IS ON 61 DAYS

Rail Brotherhood Chiefs Assert
Their Attitude Remains Unchanged

By Associated Press
Chicago—Continued bomb outrages and other forms of violence; inquiries into wrecks and alleged sabotage plots; settlement of unauthorized walkouts by trainmen on the Chicago and Alton, Elgin, Joliet and Eastern, and Missouri Pacific and an appeal to congress by railway maintenance of way employees for an amendment to the transportation act assuring "living wage" for railworkers, featured the sixty-first chapter of the history of the nation-wide railroad strike Wednesday.

Meanwhile chiefs of the "Big Four" transportation brotherhoods meeting at Cleveland asserted their attitude towards the shopmen's strike remained unchanged. The end of the tieup of the Chicago Alton came early Wednesday when striking trainmen at Slater, Mo. agreed to return to work. Their action followed similar steps by Alton men at Roodhouse, Ill. and by train crews and switchmen on the E. J. & E. at Joliet.

The blockade on the E. J. & E. outer belt line to the Chicago steel and shipping district, had continued since August 8 when a railroad detective and a striker were slain and Sheriff Newkirk wounded in a strike riot.

These breaks in a strike-ridden Chicago occurred as a threatened walk-out of "Big Four" men on the Missouri Pacific at Chaffee, Mo., was averted following conference between union leaders and road officials.

With four men held without bail on charges of murder at Gary, Ind., following the confessions of three of their number to participation in the Michigan Central wreck at Gary, August 20, Illinois and Indiana authorities continued their search for other suspects while inquiries into alleged widespread plots of sabotage and terrorism were redoubled.

SWITCHING SERVICE
AGAIN IS NORMAL

Crews Go Back to Work When Engines Are Inspected
by Government

Railroad switching crews which refused to work until the switch engines had been inspected by governmental inspection returned to work late Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning when the engines were returned from Kaukauna. The switching on the Northwestern tracks at noon on Wednesday was normal.

Under usual railroad conditions switch engines used in the Appleton yards must be inspected frequently, but the engines which were being used up to Monday morning had not been inspected for a long time.

The engines were taken to Kaukauna at once for inspection and the first one was returned Tuesday afternoon, enabling the crew to go back to work at 4 o'clock. The remaining two engines were brought back so that their crews could go to work Wednesday morning as usual.

May Need Second Prim-

BLEASE LEADS FOR GOVERNOR

Columbia, S. C.—A second primary to nominate a candidate for governor seemed certain Wednesday when approximately 100,000 votes counted in Tuesday's statewide Democratic primary indicated that no candidate for either of these offices had received the necessary majority to win.

Colonel L. Blease, a former governor, was leading Thomas McLeod, a former lieutenant governor, by more than 1,300 votes and in the event of another primary being necessary these two will be the contestants as other four candidates for the office of governor were trailing far behind.

Promise To

By Associated Press
Portland, Ore.—Revision of the Book of Common Prayer, including the proposal to eliminate the bride's promise to "obey" and the bridegroom's endowment of the bride with his worldly goods from the marriage ceremony, were among the religious problems up for consideration before the 139 bishops of the Episcopal church in the United States, at informal conferences of the members of the house of bishops starting here Wednesday.

The meeting is preliminary to the assembling one week hence of the forty-seventh triennial general convention of Episcopal churches.

Other problems before the bishops include: Divorce, woman's status in the church, the industrial situation and church unity.

The proposal to change the Book of Common Prayer has been pending for six years and involves in addition to the change in the marriage ceremony, about 200 other proposed changes.

HARD COAL MEN
TO TRY AGAIN;
PEACE NEARER

Proposals of Senators Pepper and Reed Will Be Taken Up Soon

By Associated Press
Washington—The anthracite coal strike situation took another turn toward settlement Wednesday when leaders of both sides agreed at a conference here to present to the anthracite operators and the general scale committee of the miners' union for "final decisions" settlement proposals drafted by Senators Pepper and Reed of Pennsylvania.

A statement issued after the conference which continued from Tuesday night into the early hours of Wednesday said separate meetings of the two groups would be convened as early as possible, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and S. D. Warriner, chairman of the general policy committee of the anthracite operators, who attended the conference, had prepared to convene these, probably in Philadelphia.

It was further agreed that the terms of the proposals should be withheld from publication pending the meeting. These were understood, however, to provide for the immediate return to work of the miners on the basis of the wage scale and working conditions in effect last April 1, with the operators withdrawing their insistence that arbitration be adopted as a method of fixing future wage scales.

ASKS M'HENRY TO QUIT
RACE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Milwaukee—Mayor A. C. McHenry, Oshkosh, candidate for the Republican nomination as governor, was asked Wednesday to withdraw from the race. Dr. J. J. Seelman, president of the association against the prohibition amendment, made the request in a letter to the candidate. He said that his candidacy would affect the solidarity of the anti-prohibition vote and make possible a victory for the Anti-Saloon league.

Oshkosh—In a letter to the Wisconsin Association opposed to the Prohibition Amendment, of which J. J. Seelman, Milwaukee, is president, Mayor McHenry, Oshkosh, candidate for governor on a "wet" platform, refused to accede to the association's "demand" that he withdraw from the race. Mayor McHenry rapped the association for what he termed its support of Governor Blaine, whom he asserted is a "dry."

VETO HANGS IN AIR AS SENATE AMENDS BONUS

Will President Approve Payment From War Interest?
Main Question Now

By Associated Press
Washington—The big question Wednesday in the minds of friends of the bonus bill was whether the senate provision for paying it out of the interest on the foreign debt would put it beyond the risk of presidential veto.

Proponents recalled that the president had suggested to the members of the ways and means committee early in the year that the house defer action for a time in the expectation that interest payments from Great Britain would begin to come in. On the other hand foes pointed that from the first the executive had been insistent that the financing of the bonus should not be made dependent upon returns from the foreign debt until they were actually in hand.

INTEREST STILL ON WAY
None of the interest on the debt has been received but it has been stated often in senate debate that Britain had arranged to begin payments this year. Even if the bonus should become a law by October 1, Senators have said that it would not begin to tax the treasury until next year, as time would be required to put the bonus machinery in operation.

While the bill, as it passed the house and was approved by the senate finance committee, carried no specific means of financing, the use of the (Continued on page 9)

BIG REGISTRATION
IN 2 CITY WARDS

Only Two Precincts Have Reported Registration Figures To City Hall

Voters turned out for registration Tuesday in larger numbers than was anticipated. Registration in the First precinct, First ward, and in the First precinct, Second ward, was heavier in the afternoon than in the forenoon, according to the registry boards of those precincts, the first to report on the number of registrants.

In the First precinct of the Second ward there were 372 persons whose names were entered into the registry books. The number of registrants in the First precinct, First ward, was 269. This compares favorably with the total vote cast for mayor in the spring elections. The vote in the First ward was 1,451, that in the Second ward 1,132.

In past general elections the total vote for the city of Appleton ran from 3,000 to 3,500. With the women's vote added this year, a vote of more than double that number is expected in the coming election. The total vote cast for mayor last spring was 6,681. Although primary elections have in the past failed to draw as large a vote as the general election, it is believed in view of the large number of Republican candidates and the dearth of Democratic candidates, that the largest vote will be cast at the primaries.

EXPECT HUGE CROWD AT MEETING FOR GRAASS

Preparations are being made to take care of an extremely large crowd Friday evening when Judge Henry Graass, Green Bay, candidate for Republican nomination for congress, speaks in Eagle hall here. The meeting is to begin at 8 o'clock. Judge Graass is an interesting and forceful speaker.

Much interest is attached to his campaign because of the unusual nature of his case of insanity. He did not enter the contest until there was such an insistent demand that he could not refuse. More than 2,000 names were attached to the petitions that he permit his name to be used in the campaign.

BLAINE URGES HARDING

Madison—Governor J. J. Blaine appeared to President Harding Wednesday to ask authority of congress to take over and operate the coal mines on the nation and the coal carrying railroads as a necessary step to avert the possible "fatal consequences that are sure to come to the people of this state unless they get coal now."

"This power can be exercised and the movement of coal to the northwest would be within forty-eight hours," Governor Blaine telegraphed to the president.

Text of Amendment For Creation of Buying and Selling
Agency Made Public

PARTY PLANS ARE UPSET
Attorney General Daugherty Prepares Machinery to Handle Rail Situation

By Associated Press
Washington—Warned of attempts to amend the administration's coal distribution bill by adding provisions already rejected, Republican leaders declared it would be passed before adjournment Wednesday night, substantially as framed.

Following the announcement by Representative Johnson, Republican, South Dakota, and others that they would endeavor to get through an amendment giving the president authority to take over railroads and mines which failed in public service, Representative Anderson, Republican, Minnesota, upset party plans by making public the text of an amendment for creation of a federal coal buying and selling agency.

ABANDON ORIGINAL DRAFT
The latter plan was first suggested by the president in his address to congress but in drafting the distribution bill the interstate commerce committee abandoned it announcing at the same time that it had acted with presidential approval.

Leaders said the Johnson and Anderson proposals would be thrown out on points of order and that both would be defeated if put to a vote.

WOULD USE PRESENT LAWS
Announcement of the plan to attach a federal operation clause to the coal distribution bill came after it had been made known at the White House Tuesday that the president still held that such a grant of power was desirable in order to strengthen the administration's hold on the industrial situation, although at this time he foresaw no such grim public necessity as alone would move him to exercise this authority. The president's belief, he believed, that the anthracite coal industry shortage would be put on the same basis of rapid recovery in production that the bituminous mines have reached and that the railroad situation then would be left as the only serious problem. The senate administration policy in dealing with the latter was said to be a strict enforcement of existing laws guaranteeing safety of life and property and maintenance of necessary public service.

Reflecting that policy, Attorney General Daugherty was completing plans Wednesday for a special department of justice organization to investigate alleged illegal stoppages of transportation service incident to the rail strike. The president's organization will be centered at Los Angeles in charge of Hiram C. Todd, who is resigning the office of United States attorney for northern New York to accept the special appointment.

MUSICIANS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE ON RAIL CROSSING

"Look Both Ways at a Railroad Crossing" is the slogan which the Michigan Bears Cats, the orchestra which opened at Waverly beach Tuesday evening, has adopted since its accident Tuesday afternoon. The orchestra was touring to Waverly from Menominee, Mich., a la Ford car, baggage and musical instruments, on Monday afternoon when a St. Paul train near Abrams did its best to put an end to the sextette.

As the car approached the track from the west, all six men were looking to the north for the Menominee train, when another train came from the south. The approach to the track was obscured by trees and the train was almost upon the musicians, when Richard Ramsay, the driver, saw it. He pulled the car into the ditch and hit a fence. The engine was badly damaged and the drum for the orchestra was ruined. None of the men in the car were hurt, but the damage to the machine and the drum will amount to more than $150.

LAWRENCE MAN OF '85 VISITS OLD FRIENDS

William Miller, who attended to Henry Schuetter's books while attending Lawrence college 35 years ago, visited friends here Wednesday while on his way home to New York from an automobile trip to Yellowstone park. He was accompanied by his wife, a former Appleton girl, and three of his children.

Mr. Miller visited Lawrence college, which his daughter Muriel has been attending for two years and looked up also his former employer. Of late years Mr. Miller has become very prominent in church work in New York and took an active part in securing Russell Sage dormitory for Lawrence college.

His daughter Muriel was given her choice of colleges and selected Lawrence in preference to any in the east. He could scarcely realize the institution was the one he attended in 1885 because of its growth.

Wily Marshal Gathers Coin From 'Speeders'

Appleton automobile owners who have forwarded checks of $10.00 to Marshal Schmidt of Cecil, Shawanocook, who notified them by letter they exceeded the speed limit of 12 miles while passing through that village on trunk line 22, are wondering if they have been fleeced out of their coin by other than a village official. The drivers were given their choice between appearing in court to defend themselves or mailing the check for the required amount which covered both the fine and costs.

One automobile owner who forwarded a check last week did not recall anyone taking the number of his license and was satisfied he was not exceeding the speed limit. Rather than lose a day's time he paid up.

STATE FUEL BODIES GIVEN MORE POWER

By Associated Press
Washington — Blanket permission was given state fuel administration Monday by the central coal committee enabling them to trace delayed shipments of coal consigned to the various states. Representative Brennan, Republican, Michigan, had requested permission from the Michigan State fuel administration to trace and expedite coal cars held up on the way to Michigan and the permission was made general by the committee.

Railroads in various sections of the country, according to committee officials are anxious to get away from the priority system of coal distribution and are seeking a return to the old signed car orders of the interstate commerce commission.

Efforts are being made it was said to provide for the fuel wants of the railroads without allowing the carriers to accumulate too large stocks of fuel which might be used by public utilities and other necessary consumers.

Business houses are making special arrangements concerning their cash supply and deposits to avoid inconvenience.

DEMAND FOR HUNTING LICENSES IS SMALL

Issuance of hunting licenses is not so brisk as in previous years and it is debated whether there will be a dearth of hunters. The hunting season, however, does not open until Sept. 16, and it is expected that the array of applicants for licenses will swell to greater proportions before that date. Up to Wednesday 50 licenses and 10 deer tags were issued from the county clerk's office. Very little fishing was done in the county by nonresidents. It appears, for only six licenses were issued.

ORGANIZE STATE TO GET OUT BIG VOTE

Ganfield - Morgan Supporters Forming Squadrons of
"Bell Ringers"

There will be no rest for the stay-at-home voters in Appleton on Sept. 3 if the Ganfield-Morgan boosters can help it.

In fact the stay-at-homes will find it much easier to go to the polls and vote than to resist 160,000 "bell ringers" who are being enrolled throughout the state.

by the Citizens Republican conference in the interest of the candidacy of William Ganfield for senator, W. J. Morgan for governor and the rest of the Progressive ticket endorsed at the June 1 conference.

Bell ringers are expected to wear a small red, white and blue tag with the picture of a bell. On the back will be the names of the Progressive candidates. The bell ringers each will ring ten door bells, hand each voter in the home one of the bell tags and ask him to go to the polls. On each tag is the slogan, "I am a Ganfield-Morgan bell ringer."

Responses already indicate that there will be a corps of bell ringers in every county. The women have been the most enthusiastic workers in this campaign and a majority of the bell ringers will be women. It is planned to hold meetings of bell ringers in every county before primary election day.

Tourist Heeds Call Of September; Goes Back To Office, School And Home

Stream of Cars on State Highways Moves South With Approach of Autumn—Expect Rush of Weekend Travelers and Hunters.

Wisconsin's great stream of tourist traffic has turned about. Like birds abandoning the north at the first signs of cold weather the thousands of automobile parties are leaving the northern woods and lakes and moving south.

Occasional cars come this way from Illinois with their occupants on late vacations or seeking to enjoy one last outing before the early weather goes. Most of the machines, however, come from the northern highways and are headed for Milwaukee and Chicago.

Weather that is cool to the point where it almost is frosty may have stimulated the about face of pleasure-loving tourists, but the calendar really takes most of the blame. One date on its pages, Sept. 1, is not printed in red like Sundays and holidays yet it perhaps stands out mightily prominently.

TIME TO GO TO WORK
Sept. 1 appears to be the line of demarcation between pleasure and business, vacation and school lays, idling and social pressure. Relaxation that affects almost everybody when hot weather arrives goes untried through July and August.

But in September, it is different. Business and professional men go back to their desks, children flock through doors of schools opening then and the homes in the cities are reopened. Hotel owners here do not look for the end of the tourist trade for a long time. Cottages will be closed up and the traffic will dwindle, but with the concrete highway in use all the way from Chicago, many parties will nose their cars to the playground of the north on Saturdays for a weekend stay.

HUNTERS COMING NEXT
There will be an influx of hunters after the season opens Sept. 15. Their route probably will be a different one from that of the fishermen and cottager, but Appleton is the logical center for an extensive duck hunting area and headquarters will be made here.

Snow will be sifting through the clouds just a little when the last automobiles bearing out-of-state license tags will be seen. These will be the deer hunters. Usually these men also "bag" the family Christmas tree while they are at the source of supply.

BALK AT HOOVER STATEMENT

THURSDAY WILL BE APPLETON DAY AT HORTONVILLE FAIR

Attendance of Thousands Expected on Remaining Two Days of County Attraction

Hortonville fair got off to a splendid start Wednesday afternoon and is expected to draw the attendance of thousands on Thursday and Friday.

Thursday is Appleton day. One of the features that will give it a distinctly Appleton aspect is the ball game between the Interlakes of this city and the Hortonville nine, both strong teams of Outagamie-co. league. The contest will be played on the diamond at the fair grounds.

With eight free attractions exhibiting twice daily and with more extensive exhibits than in other years, people find their time well occupied after they enter the fair grounds gate.

More stress is being placed this year on the display of purebred dairy cattle. Requirement of tubercular tests for all animals entered has been the means of inducing the leading breeders to place their cows and bulls in the ribbon competition. Exhibits of purebred swine also are extensive.

JUDGE HENRY GRAASS FOR CONGRESS

One of the most difficult places of public trust to fill is that of judge. It is a high tribute to Henry Graass that he has occupied the office of circuit judge for nearly ten years to the universal satisfaction of the public. In fact, there are few if any circuit judges in the country who enjoy the confidence and esteem of the people to a greater degree than does he.

Judge Graass has reached this enviable position because of certain innate qualities of mind and heart. A primary quality of his character is the ability to see both sides of a question, and the disposition to search diligently for truth and right. This faculty he has exhibited in a striking manner during his long occupancy of the bench, in his charges to juries, in his fairness to litigants, in his application of the law, in his efforts to protect the rights of parties who come to court to settle their differences. In short, he has strived with all his power to mete out justice evenly and to render impartial judgments. That he has succeeded with distinction is proved by his reputation and standing as a judge. That is why more than 2,000 of his constituents petitioned him to refuse the nomination for congress.

The moral qualities which distinguish Judge Graass will follow him in whatever walk of life he may engage. Integrity, rugged honesty, courage and fairness are innate. One cannot imagine him in any other light. These qualities, if elected to congress, he will carry with him to Washington. He will represent his constituents impartially, vigorously, honestly. The rich will obtain from him no more consideration than the poor, probably less, on the theory that they are better able to take care of themselves. Special interests will receive none. He will serve labor as conscientiously as he will serve others. He will serve farmer, manufacturer and workingman alike. And what is more, he will actually serve them, for above everything else Judge Graass is no shirker. He loves work, and the more and harder the better. It would be impossible to picture Judge Graass in the role of the typical politician, with his feet on a desk, smoking a cigar and amusing himself with funny stories. It would be equally impossible to picture him as the servant of a politician higher up, taking orders from him, or from a political coterie, or from influential interests or catering to the wishes or flattery of favor seekers. In congress Judge Graass would be committed to the common good, to the greatest good for the greatest number.

And let us not mistake that he would be a power for good to the greatest number. As a debater, as a thinker, as a worker, he would rank with the best in the house of representatives. We would have no fiery displays of oratory from him and then peaceful subsidence. We would have the voice and the will and the work. We would also have a man of fine ability, whose record and personality would soon raise him above the heads of the rank and file of his colleagues. We would have a representative who would be heard and who would make his influence felt. We would have a representative in training for the higher honors of the senate.

It has been many years since the people of this district have had the opportunity to send to Washington a man of the people whom they could trust and at the same time of commanding ability, such as is embodied in Judge Graass. It may be a long time before the opportunity comes again. In the meantime there are questions before congress of the weightiest concern to the people, questions which are to decide the peace, security and prosperity of the country. There are questions, and many of them, of direct importance to the people of this district. We submit that we need locally and we need nationally men like Judge Graass to represent us at Washington at such a time. We are lucky to have secured his assent to serve us in this capacity if we call upon him. Shall we make the mistake of not issuing the call?

PREVENT COAL PROFITEERING

The direct losses of the coal strike will be assessed against the public in the form of increased prices for fuel. So far as the operators are concerned, they will get back with interest the cost of closing down their lines. As soon as coal becomes available in substantial volume the price will go up. How much it will go up will depend upon market conditions and the ease and facility with which the public can be gouged for its winter's fuel supply.

It will be a mistake for industrial interests or the public to imagine that the settlement of the bituminous coal strike means that coal will be plentiful. The delivery of coal into the remote districts of the north and west while weather conditions are favorable is an enormous undertaking in itself, and will tax transportation facilities heavily. At the same time industrial coal must be delivered to practically all parts of the country. The improbability of an adequate supply of coal for some time to come is reflected in Mr. Ford's decision to close all of his factories September 15th, enforcing idleness upon 100,000 employees.

The situation is ideal for profiteering. Past experiences prove to us that the coal mining interests will have no compunction about holding the public up. That is the way their business is conducted. Even normally it is so operated that periodical coal famines are artificially produced to afford a plausible excuse for sending up the price. With enormous over-development of the industry, the operators have resorted to these methods to insure profitable returns and to prevent losses through over-production. In their practical effects the strikes this year have been no different from ordinary conditions, when one excuse or another is utilized to shut down the mines, curtail production and increase prices.

We believe the administration has power, we believe that it has the moral force, to prevent coal profiteering this fall and winter. But it can do so only by acting immediately and decisively. If legislation is needed, congress should provide it forthwith. In addition to coal rationing we should have strict regulation of price, and the price should be kept down to what it would be had there been no strike. There is no reason why the public should foot the bill of this long and useless strife between the operators and their men. Whatever losses were due to idleness should be charged off. The people are entitled to fuel at a reasonable price based on the cost of production, and they should not pay a cent more. The government at Washington can protect the consumers against extortion if it takes really effective measures. If it does not it will be because the exigencies of politics, as determined by the approaching congressional election, appear to be against intervention.

Women at Cambridge

Someone said that when Nora slammed the door in Ibsen's play, "A Doll's House," the bang was like the shot fired at Concord—heard round the world. That was forty-three years ago, but its reverberations have apparently just penetrated the cloistered confines of Cambridge University. Announcement is made that, before many moons, women are to enjoy equal educational privileges with men at that famous seat of learning, both as to matriculation and as to degrees.

That a woman is the equal of a man—if she is—seems to be bitter medicine for some to swallow; but it is gradually going down in homeopathic doses. Reversing the process followed in one of Poe's harrowing tales, the walls of the home are widening year by year and woman is more and more becoming a citizen of the world. It is true in "land of industry and business no less than of politics and education."—PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN.

Superfluous Hair

The best advice for the average young woman who discovers hairs on her skin is that she leave them alone. A woman's skin is covered everywhere with fine hairs, except only the palms and soles, and it is unwise to attempt to remove these practically unnoticeable hairs which are discovered only by the closest inspection. It is true that the temporary removal of hairs by any of the various depilatory remedies—all of which are corrosive but temporary solvents, and none of which permanently destroy hair—or by the razor, which is as efficient and rather less irritating than chemical depilatories, tends to make the hairs heavier and more noticeable when they grow out again.

A common error is the belief that the use of this or that cosmetic or cold cream causes hair to grow on the skin. Nothing except the depilatories will do that.

For the removal of hair from the armpits a small safety razor is preferable to any other means, although it is not advisable to remove the natural hair growing in the armpits. It serves a useful purpose there in carrying the perspiration and aiding in its natural evaporation. Electrolysis is the only method which permanently destroys hairs on the face without risk of injury. Hairs otherwise may be permanently destroyed by X-ray treatment, but the risk of a burn is such that competent operators seldom if ever use X-ray treatment for this purpose about the face, except perhaps to epilate a bunch of hairs from a local lesion such as a mole or a patch of ring worm.

Forty to fifty coarse hairs may be removed at each sitting; from one half to one tenth of these will grow again, not having been destroyed by the current. Nothing but a single needle can be safely used, that is, with an degree of efficiency and without causing any scar formation. The use of the electric needle for destroying hairs does not stimulate the growth of the finer or invisible hairs of the region treated. "Sittings" should be about a week apart, where a considerable growth is to be destroyed, such as a beard on a woman's face. Hairs here and there should be selected for removal, and not a bunch in one spot. More or less irritation and sometimes swelling follows the treatment and lasts for several hours, but this subsides by next day, provided—

Provided the operation has been conducted in the same aseptic manner as all competent treatments on all operations. Attempts at self-treatment by unqualified persons sometimes bring disaster. Women seeking such treatment should bear in mind that even digging for "dead hair" by the barber is a frequent cause of septic infection and grave consequences for the man so reckless as to submit to that kind of barber surgery.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Weak Ankles

I turn over on my ankles very often, sometimes with much pain. Is it likely to cause permanent injury? I never wear high heels and I prefer low shoes or slippers.—MAY O.

Answer—Probably you need general physical training and special exercises for the feet, ankles and legs, such as the heel and toe drill—rising slowly as high as possible on toes, then slowly sinking to floor, from 10 to 15 times each night and morning, barefoot, toeing in. Tennis, running and hiking are good, and so is ballet dancing and esthetic dancing. Low shoes or no shoes are best. Some girls in their teens, with weak ankles or flat feet, need the help of careful support by adhesive plaster strapping of the feet and ankles for a few weeks. This of course requires medical attention. The other movement of the heel and toe drill consists of rising in the same manner on the heels, toeing in.

No Harm in Being Stung

We raise bees, and in working with them I frequently get stung. The sting causes a swollen spot which remains quite sore for a few hours. Will this poison, or whatever it is, ultimately cause any trouble of late? I have felt run down and had a large abscess.—P. L. N.

Answer—No. More likely the abscess caused you to run down.

Flaxseed Habit

I saw your answer about flaxseed for constipation. How much do you take and how often?—MRS. H. W.

Answer—I suggested taking a rounded teaspoonful of whole (ground) flaxseeds once daily, either washing it down with water or other beverage, or mixing it with any cereal when about to eat.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Sept. 1, 1907

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Koenig the day previous.

William Reid of New York and son, W. A. Reid of St. Louis, were visiting Appleton relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hartung and son returned from a visit with relatives at Two Rivers.

Michael Maloney, 74, died the previous Sunday at his home in Appleton.

The free library and reading room was opened in its new quarters in the council rooms.

Work upon the addition to be built to the Sherman house was to be commenced the following week.

Mrs. Nic Mertes fractured her limb by a misstep while picking flowers in her garden.

A man was brought to the county jail where he was to serve a sentence of five days for standing on a corner at Kaukauna.

The Lincoln mill of Fox River Paper Co. which had been closed down for more than a year, was about to start up and was to make left dried instead of machine dried paper.

Ice dealers were prohibited by a new law from delivering ice unless the place it was secured was conspicuously posted on their wagons.

A. L. Smith, Jr., arrived home from Madison, Me. He said the Manufacturing Investment Co.'s mill at that place would not be able to start up until water power was available as it had no steam engine.

The new lecture course committee of the Congregational church consisted of Dr. J. S. Reeve, W. B. Murphy, F. W. Hartman, Henry Kreis, Ralph Pomeroy, William Wescott, A. G. Leffingwell and F. F. LaRowe.

Laughing at Authority

The all-feminine administration of the town of Deslacs, in North Dakota, which was swept into office last spring by a landslide vote, is undergoing some modifications. Mrs. Bertha Ward, the village marshal, not being as strong as the powerful Katrinka, has surrendered her star to the village council with the comment that when she tried to arrest disturbers of the peace "they would just laugh at me and I was helpless."

The council accepted the resignation and appointed to the marshaling a section hand who is strong enough to lift a flat car loaded with steel rails. And now there is order in Deslacs.—AKRON BEACON JOURNAL.

PUBLIC IDOL SHATTERED

IN HART DIVORCE SUIT

Few legal proceedings of recent months has aroused the interest that followed the filing of an application for divorce by Winifred Westover Hart against her husband "Bill" Hart, cowboy par excellence of the pictured screen. Editors generally discuss it at great length. Especially is this so because of the suggestion that one of the grounds on which the judicial separation was demanded was that he had been cruel.

There is a disposition on the part of editors who are debating the troubles of the pair to hope that, after all, the picture will not be so black as painted and that reconciliation yet will be possible. Typical of such a view, point is the declaration of the Minneapolis TRIBUNE suggesting that "it may be that Bill was only keeping in training to enchain the villain with the help of his real life. Let us hope that Bill did nothing to forfeit the respect his admirers have always felt for him. If he and Winifred can yet find it in their hearts to mend the breach and have a new cheek-to-cheek picture taken, they will do themselves, Hollywood, their profession and their partisans out in the darkened theatre rooms a good turn.

It is something they owe for the plaudits that they have come their way in happier days. The kiss of reconciliation will pay rich dividends if it be a kiss steeped in the nectar of the soul. The little one yet to be has an equity that is not lightly to be ignored." And the OMAHA WORLD HERALD is convinced that "regrettable as is the fact of this movie star's domestic trouble, it will be more so if there is foundation for reports that reflect discredit upon his fine character. If he must be involved in domestic infelicity and divorce, let us hope that it is not true that he was cruel."

"In these days," however, the Rockford REPUBLICAN points out, "one cannot be certain whether a woman means blows and kicks or just the denial of a new Rolls Royce when she goes into court against a millionaire husband on a cruelty charge. It is reassuring to Bill's friends that the people of Winifred's recent dispatch to him by special horseback messenger, a giant petition imploring him to give them more of his typical western pictures. Now probably he will have too. Alimony is no respecter of retired gentlemen." Following as this suit does, on the heels of so many like it, the CINCINNATI TIMES STAR is led to ask, "What goes on behind the scenes?"

Is the silent drama to outdo the spoken drama in the stardom of its martial quarrels? Can it be possible that the suppressed eloquence of 'movie' acting leads to rhetorical explosions in the homes?" Which brings from the Roanoke TIMES the declaration that "really, the screen people aren't very much better than the very rich when it comes to the marriage question. Probably there are many moving folk who live happily and some and happy lives with no tinge of romance, but the majority of them are not. But the public, unfortunately, doesn't hear much about them. That is why Hollywood has fallen into bad repute. Even Will Hays cannot save the movie folks from themselves. If they want a good name they must deserve it. And the way to rehabilitation of the movies in the eyes of the public doesn't lie through the divorce courts."

It is however unfair that because of this, and other like developments, the screen should be universally condemned. The Sioux CITY JOURNAL points out as "the motion picture is not a child of the devil and its birthplace was not hell." But the Kansas CITY JOURNAL rather sarcastically insists that stardom in the movies "develops a temperament that is less callous than those of the men and women whose life is not taken up with art entirely. Probably when these stars see their names spelled out in electric light bulbs, soggy biscuits become more unbearable than usual and the least friction on their delicate developed tempers can be soothed only by divorce decrees from the courts. There is an opportunity here for a supreme arbiter of the matrimonial rifts in the movie profession." And the Nashville BANNER opines that "Hollywood is a place apart, where live in luxury our pampered movie stars and their very art is of a character to prohibit long as the ties between those of them who marry."

The task of keeping his stars in restraint is a difficult one even for Will Hays the Fremont TRIBUNE avers inasmuch as "it seems like only yesterday that the whole world smiled and ogled itself in the ribs over the sweet romance that had united Big Bill Hart and his adoring charmer, Winifred Westover. And barely a change of moons has brought them to the parting of the ways," which causes the Reno GAZETTE to assert that "the entire moving picture colony has 'been press agented too long. For years Hart's press agents have been the most industrious of the tribe. They have kept him and his career, and finally his marriage, constantly before the people. And now he complains because the statement is published that he is to enter the divorce courts."

It is suggested by the Kansas CITY STAR, possibly "the marriage need more spunk. Divorce, running rampant very often because it is obviously fashionable and cleverly excusable." But the new Bedford STANDARD believes that "the announcement that the most famous cowboy in the movies has been sued for divorce impresses one with the lack of consideration shown by the screen stars for the editors of movie magazines. The pages of these largely pictured publications are devoted largely to the stories of the beautiful home life of famous actors and their wives and famous actresses and their husbands. And then, when this idea has been firmly planted, when the public has been convinced that the husband is a sort of Douglas, tender and true, and the wife a devoted help meet, one of them up and files a divorce libel; another idol is busted and another romance shattered. The movie editors, we should think, would feel that they had been shamefully betrayed."

THE TWILIGHT OF THE PEOPLE

Paris. — Writing in the OEUVRE, Francois Lebon likens our present time to the decadence of the Romans. He says:—

"Civilized humanity in Europe is regarding the future with uneasiness. Disturbed as he is by new doctrines, hesitating between opposed parties, disillusioned observer of an unavoidable decadence equal in extent to that the past: religion, morals, and patriotic ideas.

"The war hastened on the appearance of disorder. As far as we are concerned it is the unforeseen fruits of victory. Great benefits were to come from this cataclysm: where are they?"

"The peasants are the only ones who have found peace and happiness behind their ploughs. Every great town appears today like a huge hospital where the heart-rending groans of the patients are filling the air. Contentment no longer dwells there. Agitation is at its highest pitch. A disease has stolen into our minds, showing itself by an irritability which nothing will calm by an incurable pessimism following on scepticism, by sadness alternating with a frenzy of enjoyment.

"The rich man trembles for his treasures; fear haunts him. The poor are not resigned to their misery. They set their hopes on a revolution which will turn everything upside down and start again under better conditions for them.

"Political oppositions are fierce; the struggles between parties furious. The reactionaries advocate a return to the past; the socialists try to hasten the approach of the future. Both of them execrate the present; and nobody is there to defend it.

"Everybody wants light thrown on the things of public life, but nobody can do without the shadow. They want to know the truth about the business of state and yet they keep them covered in darkness. The governments announce an open policy but they unveil their projects less and less and their designs remain mysteries. We are taken away into the darkness without knowing whither we are going.

"Cultivated men have given savage and infernal shapes to the struggle for existence. Civilized life has become a fight between cut-throats.

"No doubt suffering always existed. But in former times it never took such strange and morbid forms as those that we see around us. Our present state of mind has not like in the past. It has been said that it could be compared to that of the Romans of the fourth and fifth centuries. Just as then, scarcely anybody believes in the priests, nor in what is taught at school. The traditional views on persons and things are out of date. Life itself seems to have neither logic nor signification.

"The masses, deceived on all sides, their convictions contradicted and belied by event, obliged to do deeds which are contrary to what they considered moral until today, disgusted and deeply grieved, turn more and more towards immediate physical satisfaction.

"Civilized people lose little by little all the joy of life and all desire to fight for what? A great number take refuge in a kind of beastly sensuality, without charm, without intelligence, without subtly, where direct enjoyment, quickened by insatiable curiosity, reigns supreme.

"Perhaps we are about to prove that all old societies die in the same way. Our contemporaries are absurd, iniquitous and ferocious, as was the flock of St. Augustine. Our order of things appears to us what it was then a precarious and miserable order the ruin of which has begun. We listen as did the last Romans, to the statements and disputes of the rhetorical speakers while the fire smoulders round us on all sides and envelops us."

"Which is correct—burnsides or sideburns?" H. E. R.

A. The name descriptive of a style of whiskers is burnsides. They were worn by General Ambrose Everett Burnsides and his name was given to them.

Q. Why was a costermonger so called? F. R.

A. The name is a corruption of costard monger or costard seller cost being an Old English name for the apple.

Q. When the sun reaches its northern solstice, how long is it above the horizon at the Arctic Circle? S. B. T.

A. The Naval Observatory says that allowing for the effect of refraction and the sun's semidiameter, some portion of the sun's disk will be continuously above the horizon at the Arctic Circle for about a month in June and July.

Q. Who was the attorney for the miners in the anthracite arbitration of 1902? H. J. W.

A. Clarence S. Darrow was chief counsel for the mine workers in the anthracite arbitration of 1902.

A. John Marshall, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Q. What is the meaning of "a cycle of Cathay"? H. McG.

A. In China a cycle covers a period of 60 years, hence the poet, Moore, may have had that definite period of time in mind when he used the expression "Better 50 years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay."

Q. Is there any snake that has legs? E. S. S.

A. The cylinder snake retains vestiges of the pelvis and hind limbs, the latter showing in claw-like spurs protruding between the scales on each side of the vent. It is found in the Malay Islands and Indo China.

Q. When a man has a fur farm, are the animals he raises considered domesticated animals? G. N.

A. A gentleman who is a glutton for punishment, figures out that the allied debt to Uncle Sam is more dollars than there are letters in 4000 Bibles. Shipped to us in silver dollars, it would fill 10,000 freight cars. People who discuss the debt glibly, and talk as if cancelling it were a routine matter such as yawning, are like a man trying to pick up a railroad locomotive with a pair of bon-bon tongs.

Air Still Has Mastery

The day of the flying freight train is now develops, is further off than the optimists promised.

Airplane freight service between London and Paris is discontinued. The cost was prohibitive. Service hereafter the company announces, will be limited to passengers.

A battle is thus lost, but the war is not. Inventors now will get their dander up and find the way to cut the cost of carrying freight through the air. There is a way.

In the Berlin glider contest Aviator Hentzen flies around in the air for two hours in a motorless plane operated much like a sailboat on water.

Steamer, in a similar machine stands still in a heavy wind, then raises and lowers his craft like an elevator.

Absolute mastery of the air by man is not many years off.

George A. Dean is dead. For 35 years he stood behind a barred window and sold tickets to passengers of Chicago & Northwestern Railroad.

His was monotonous work. And answering the questions and meeting the temper outbursts of an endless file of customers requires genius, patience and a wide understanding of human nature. Dean kept it up for more than 10,000 days and did a good job.

He goes into eternity without fame or fabulous wealth. But he was a good and useful citizen. That is the real success. Civilization is carried on the shoulders of millions like George A. Dean.

Six per cent is a fair profit for railroads, according to national law. The roads during the first six months of 1922 earned $1.44 on each $100 of tentative valuation, instead of $6.

It is all a matter of bookkeeping, though. Profits are held down because the roads are buying much equipment and generally rehabilitating their properties. That is profit to them, just as much as having the money in the bank. If they spent enough, they'd never "earn" a penny.

The longest word in our language is "disestablishmentarianism." If you think it's a jawbreaker, observe that it has only nine syllables.

A student of languages has just discovered a Sanskrit word of 1752 syllables.

Yet neither of these two words is as important as little "it," "no" or "yes." Looks deceiving. We withhold the Sanskrit word, from fear congressmen would begin using it in speeches.

Why Are Some Women Popular,

happy, beloved and successful, while others drag out a negative existence of no use to themselves or anyone else? Except in a few cases the answer is to be found in a state of freedom from the troubles known as "female." The well woman radiates cheerfulness and serenity, while the ailing one repels because of her lack of these qualities. It is not necessary, however, to harbor aches and pains, and the "blues" that make one a detriment to society. The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought relief to such women, and given them a new lease on life.

ENTER THE FLAPPER

Chapter 23 — Peggy is a Good Sport

By Zoe Beckley

As the two cars started for New York, scarcely a word came from the occupants of either.

At the door of the apartment house in which the Deans and Hollises lived, the good nights were stiff and brief. Not until Winnie's parents and Peggy and her mother were in their home did the long suppressed storm begin.

"Winifred," Mr. Hollis addressed his daughter in the coldly polite tone she had always most feared on the occasions when even the right-minded Winnie had need of rebuke, "will you please explain why you spent the night before your examinations tearing around the country in a disreputable automobile party?"

Poor Winnie, exhausted with the night's events but too good a sport to seek an easy escape by telling the truth, essayed still one last defensive struggle.

"I'm really too tired, father, to put up a good defense," she said. "And if I fail in tomorrow's exams—today's, this afternoon—I think you'll find it punishment enough for me. Won't you let me go to bed now?"

"I'll be the judge of punishment," began Mr. Hollis severely. But suddenly Peggy, from where she had stood dejectedly in the far corner of the big library, advanced with a certain firmness of purpose in her face.

She was weary to the last degree of endurance. All her hard, defiant fire was left. Only a spiritless despair was left.

"Listen Uncle Ralph. Winnie has done nothing you could disapprove of. Quite the opposite. I called Bob Vanderpool on the telephone to take me out for a ride when he got home. 'Winnie tried to stop me and I wouldn't pay attention. When Bob, by came, Win went along as chapter one. That's all there is to it.'"

Mr. Hollis' expression changed. "Thanks, Peggy." His glance sought the eyes of his sister, Peggy's mother. "And—forgive me, Win. Good night my dear." He kissed his daughter contritely and, with his wife, left the room.

Winnie went up to her cousin and put her arm round her. "You're a good sport, Peg!" The two kissed affectionately and Winnie went out without further remark, leaving Peggy with her mother.

Mrs. Dean had been coldly awaiting the explanation. Peggy, whose defiance flickered into life once more at her mother's stern face, waited in silence the dreaded interview.

"Peggy," Mrs. Dean began, "we came home from the Yacht Club at half-past one. I supposed you were asleep, having prepared for today's examinations.

"Instead, imagine my amazement when Mrs. Vanderpool informed me over the telephone you had called up Bobby—but I needn't go over it, you mean by this evening's disreputable doings. Proceed!"

IF YOU ARE WELL DRESSED

You begin when your children are very young to teach them correct social usages, but you instill in the youthful mind the idea of kindness and consideration rather than form.

The child who has developed a real consideration for others will need little instruction to do the right thing and will do it instinctively while the child who is taught only the outward observances, but not the underlying principles of politeness, will always have only a veneer.

Starts At 4 Months To Be Physical Gaint

Phillipsburg, Pa.—Paul B. Humphrey keeps in training all the time. He began it four months ago, when he was only one third as old as he is to day.

He tips the beam at 18 pounds ringside—or anywhere else.

"No fooling there are not many athletes of his years who can hang full weight by one mitt from a clothesline, as Paul Humphrey can."

Besides, that's only one of many feats of strength and agility he knows how to pull. When he gets a little older, his parents say, they will provide him with a regular manager, so he can put out some formal defenses.

Adventures Of The Twins

Twins Score a Point

Comet-Legs was the rival of Mr. Peearabout, the Man in the Moon. One day he rode up to the moon on his star and hopped off.

"Now then," said he, "I'll just go round to the cities of the moon and show the moon people how handsome I am. No doubt they'll put old Peearabout out and give me his place."

"He's too old anyway, and earth folks want a change. I'll bet they're good 'n' tired having the same old moon run the same old way."

The idea tickled Comet-Legs so much he began to ho, ho and hee, hee till his round tummy shook up and down like a plum pudding. By 'n' by he came to a mountain top and looked down at the earth. When he got up there was old Peearabout looking at him!

Quick as a wink he gave the Moon Man a push, and away went he head over heels into space. Comet-Legs went on his way. He was so tickled he began to make up a song of his own.

"When I am the Man in the Moon, As I really expect to be soon, I'll run it about, through the clouds in and out,

And I'll turn night and day inside out without doubt! And at midnight I'll see that it's noon 'The moon I'll send 'tother way 'round.

That'll interest folks I'll be bound, From the west to the east, I shall shove it at last.

STANTON HITS HOUSE IN PREPARE TO AUTO

A house on Pacific st. between Union and Lawests. and an automobile were introduced to each other rather forcibly Wednesday morning when E. A. Stanton, driving a Ford, preferred climbing the curbing to a collision with the rear end of a machine driven by William Harrison. Mr. Stanton was unhurt, although the front of the car was wrecked.

Both machines were proceeding in the same direction and it is said by Mr. Stanton that the Harrison car was stopped rather suddenly. The Ford was steered toward the curbing and kept right on going across the lawn, dodging several trees and crashing into the side of the house.

The Autumn Cretonnes Are Gaily Flowered

FOR bedrooms, sun parlors and nurseries, there are no drapes quite as refreshing as these made from flowered Cretonne.

All the colors that nature has given the flowers have been transplanted to these beautiful cretonnes. Great care, however, was taken in combining the colors and while there may be several used in the one pattern, they are harmoniously contrasted.

And drapes are not the only things one may make out of Cretonne. Pillows, bed spreads, chair covers, dresser scarfs, table covers, shoe bags, laundry bags, lamp shades and a dozen and one things more are very effective when made of cretonne.

For sleeping rooms are dainty, light colored chintz patterns at 29c to 45c a yard.

For living rooms, dining rooms and sun parlors are gay flower, bird and tree designs at 65c upward to $1.75 a yard.

RECORD NUMBER OF STUDENTS AT TEACHER SCHOOL

Sixty-three Enrolled as School Opens—Thirty-two are Seniors

Kaukauna—Outagamie County Training school opened its doors for the fall and winter term of 1922 and '23 Monday morning. True to expectations, the enrollment has reached 63, which is more than the entire enrollment of any previous year. School opened last year with about 50 students. More high school graduates than other years, also have enrolled. This is the last season in which training school students may teach in rural schools with only three years of professional training. A new statute provides that four years training is necessary after 1923.

Several more students are expected before the end of the first quarter of the term. Usually from five to fifteen additional are received after the opening of the school. Prof. W. P. Hagman stated Tuesday that a number of young ladies would attend immediately if they could find places in private homes or restaurants where they might earn part of their expenses through school.

Of the enrollment, 32 are seniors, or students who will finish training next spring, 16 are sophomores and 15 are beginners. The first two years work are practically a duplicate of the first two years of work in the high school. Beginners are required to take English, algebra and arithmetic, general science and physiology. Two year students take English, United States and modern history, agriculture and rural economics, algebra and geography. The studies are divided so that only part of the curriculum is taken the first half year and part the latter half year.

The one year students or seniors must take the professional course which consists of practice teaching for the whole year, theory of teaching, 10 weeks; school management, methods in reading and in geography, one half year; language methods, arithmetic methods, one half year; physiology, history and civics, 10 weeks; agriculture and domestic science, 10 weeks, drawing and construction, 10 weeks.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

Kaukauna—A meeting of the board of education was held in the council rooms Monday evening but little business was transacted, due to the absence of several members. Usual bills were allowed and the meeting adjourned.

FURS AND MYSTERY
By A. CARSTENSEN,
Appleton's Furrier

It may seem like a small thing to the purchaser of furs, but nevertheless a few weeks' difference in the time a pelt is taken makes a tremendous difference in the finished fur piece.

If you were selecting a fur could you tell whether the animal from which the pelt was taken was captured at the right time of the year or whether it was caught too early or too late? Probably not;—your furrier could—but would he?

A pelt captured early in the fall, before the temperatures settles down below the freezing point, is unprime and is known as a "blue pelt." The fur of a blue pelt is invariably immature and the leather is weak. Had the animal been taken but a few weeks later the fur would have been far more valuable and would give immeasurably more wear.

Pelts taken a few weeks late, that is, after the temperature has risen to above freezing, are known as "shedders." This is because the animal when taken was about to shed its heavy winter coat. Even after the skin has been taken from the animal, dressed, dyed and made up into the finished fur it will continue to shed. This makes it poor in wearing qualities.

Any furrier who knows his business knows that shedders and blue pelts are almost worthless and if he is at all honest with his patrons he will not buy them at any price. Until laws are enacted prohibiting the capture of animals before their skins are prime, some furriers will continue to buy these furs because of their cheapness, selling them at prices asked for prime skins at more reliable fur stores.

To the average purchaser of furs there is but one safe course open; select an honest fur dealer who knows his business.

Beware of the Wolf in Sheep's Clothing.

3.200 MASONS AT TRI-COUNTY PICNIC

Triplet Youths of Shawano Stage Wrestling Match at Camp Cleghorn Event

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—About 1,200 people attended the Masonic picnic held at Camp Cleghorn, Chain-o-Lakes last Thursday. The assembly was composed of Masons and their families and members of Eastern Star chapters and their families from Waupaca, Waupesa, Clintonville, Shawano, Manawa and New London.

Various forms of outdoor sports had been prepared by the committee in charge, but as the day was extremely warm, bathing proved the favorite diversion. The children were taken in charge by Mrs. Vergrove of Waupaca, who is an experienced playground director.

An interesting feature of the day's program was a stunt put on by the Shawano lodge. The triplet sons of Albert Seering of Shawano engaged in a wrestling match, one boy acting as referee while the other two wrestled. The ladies of the Waupaca Order of the Eastern Star conducted a running race to which all visiting ladies were eligible, and a prize was awarded the winner. Baseball fans were interested in watching two games, one in which the men participating and another for the boys.

New London was well represented at the picnic. It is expected that the joint Masonic picnic may be made an annual event.

INDUSTRIES OF PALESTINE ARE SHOWING GROWTH

Jews Are Making Great Success of Developments Along Commercial Lines

By Associated Press
Jerusalem—The industrial development of Palestine under the Jews is moving forward in leaps and bounds, and this in spite of the many trade quarrels that have sprung up of late between employer and employee.

During the past year no less than 4,000 licenses were issued for new trades and industries in Palestine. The extent of this development can be judged from the fact that prior to 1921 only 2,500 licenses were registered by the government. This means that nearly two-thirds of the enterprises in Palestine were started within the last year.

The capital invested in each of these ventures ranges from $20,000 to $50,000, but with such notable exceptions as the Silicate company, of Jaffa, with a capital of $500,000, and the Standard Oil Company, now exploiting the Dead Sea Basin.

A tract of 500 acres of land has been bought by British Jewish interests and will be devoted to home and factory building, while American interests are starting a building and loan association and a savings bank.

The refineries of this Company operate the year through in order that products will be ready when the heavy summer demand comes. At all times the Company attempts to have its field storage tanks full.

To maintain an abundant supply of gasoline at all points in the territory requires the unceasing efforts of 26,000 employees, the manufacturing capacity of 6 large refineries, the field storage at 3821 bulk stations, 1700 service stations, 515,000 iron barrels, and over 6600 tank wagon and delivery trucks.

The motorist who will think in terms of the unceasing streams of cars on the streets about him will quickly appreciate the magnitude of the task confronting the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). This task is far more difficult of performance in the Middle West than elsewhere in the United States because the number of cars per capita is greater and the mileage of these cars is greater.

Great as this undertaking is, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has proved equal to the job. As gasoline consumption increases, this Company provides facilities to meet it. It believes that this expansion of activity is an essential part of the service which it is expected to perform.

Buy Carefully And Save Money, Hodgins Cautions

Now that the season is here when housewives are laying in their supply of winter produce, buyers are urged by Joseph A. Hodgins city sealer of weights and measures, to use every precaution to get accurate weight and good quality.

Let some persons may not know the number of pounds to the bushel of various vegetables and fruits, the following table is given: Potatoes, 60 lbs.; apples, 44; beans, 60; onions, 50; cucumbers, 50; peaches, 48; pears, 48; rutabaga, 56; turnips, 42; carrots, 50, and cranberries, 35. Weights for other produce can be obtained from the city sealer by telephoning 532, or by obtaining a weight card containing all the necessary information. Domestic buyers also are urged to use caution and judgment and not accept produce of a poor quality. Neither frost bitten nor unripe potatoes will keep for the winter, he says. A method by which one can detect if the potatoes are frost bitten, he advises, is to rub one's hand over it to see if it peels readily. If it does, it is either green or touched by frost. One should also watch for rotten potatoes which are known by their black spots. It may be wise to cut into the potato before buying, he suggested.

TWO APPLETON FIRMS BID ON MEMORIAL HOME

Two Appleton contractors were bidders for construction work on the proposed Hicks Memorial Home for Nurses at the sanitarium of Winnebago-co. last week; one was successful and one was not.

Langstadt-Meyer company obtained the contract for electric wiring for the sum of $519.07, underbidding firms of Oshkosh, Neenah and Berlin. Eager construction company had the second best bid for the general construction work. L. F. Schroeder Co. of Fond du Lac was awarded the contract for $22,161. The Appleton firm's bid was only about $500 more, while other firms bid from $3,000 to $5,000 higher.

Contracts for the heating system and painting work were won by Oshkosh firms.

GREEN BAY GETS COAL FOR PRIORITY ORDERS

The arrival of a cargo of nearly 6,000 tons of coal at the Green Bay docks this week and the report from Northwestern division headquarters that 20 to 25 carloads are being received daily for the Wisconsin and Ashland divisions are regarded here as very encouraging for the coal outlook.

This cargo of coal was the largest shipment received since July 1. It is to be applied on priority orders for the railroads, public utilities and other essential industries. The supply handled by the Northwestern road will take care of the operation of trains, both passenger and freight, on the two divisions without any trouble, it is reported.

Coal dealers here are hoping that the shipments will be increased soon so as to be in excess of priority orders.

DON'T WANT VOTES OF THOSE WHO WERE DISLOYAL TO U. S.

Mrs. Hooper Refuses to Bid for Hyphenated Support in Her Campaign

Mrs. Jessie Jack Hooper, Democratic candidate for LaFollette's seat in the United States senate, has started the politicians of the Badger state again. Her latest campaign stunt, revealed in her platform announced Tuesday, is to refuse votes.

Where some of her opponents are harping on the "real issues" in the World war and pandering the American government in an attempt to gain the German-American vote, Mrs. Hooper, without mincing words, tells the voters disloyal to America, or using their citizenship for the benefit of some other country to pass her by. To her it is wholly unAmerican to regard America's part in the World war as anything but a step toward permanent world peace.

Mrs. Hooper wants America to get into the league of nations quickly and to back the international court of justice. She wants reforestation at once, approval of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway, a tariff for revenue only and longer terms without political exploitation for American ambassadors. Arbitration of labor disputes is her idea of ending industrial strife.

"The question of the right and justice of our cause in the war which Germany forced us to wage against her has been injected into the United States senatorial campaign in Wisconsin," declares the woman candidate. "From the very first I have firmly and most earnestly believed that we entered the World war not only to protect our homes and our rights, but to preserve human liberty and to end war for all times. For the vote of every faithful American, no matter what race or creed or condition of life, I shall indeed feel grateful and honored. But anyone who has used the prerogatives of American citizenship to serve the interests of any foreign country or who wishes for any reason to visit resentment against those who stood true to America and to the cause of peace may choose some other candidate more to his liking without effort or inclination on my part to stay him."

Other planks in Mrs. Hooper's platform are: Federal child labor law; independent citizenship for married women; federal department of education; opposition to subsidies for business, combat against reaction and radicalism; unsetting of Newberry; strict dry enforcement; soldier bonus, but not with the idea the nation's debt to them thus is settled.

JUDGE WERNER ORDERS FACTORY REASSESSMENT

The city of Manitowoc has been formally served with a formal order of Judge Edgar V. Werner of the circuit court directing a reassessment of the property of the Cereal Products Co. for the year 1920. It is rumored that the city will contest the order.

In the original decision the court upheld the assessment of 1920 on the Cereal Products Co. but later granted a rehearing and ordered a reassessment made on the basis of the decision of the supreme court in the Northwestern Life Insurance case. The assessment of the Cereal Products Co. property for 1921-1922 also is being contested.

WOULD SPLIT DAY JOBS FOR STUDENT BENEFIT

Using two Lawrence college men half a day each on a full-time job is the suggestion of C. L. Boynton, employment secretary of the Y. M. C. A., in making to employers of Appleton in order to accommodate the students who must work their way so they may remain in school.

Mr. Boynton is swamped with applications from college and high school boys wanting part-time employment. Several have suggested the half day plan for two workers. This will enable them to accept work they otherwise might not get.

Several applications for work are on file from local laborers, one a janitor, whom Mr. Boynton is endeavoring to place.

The RED HOUSE MYSTERY

by A. A. MILNE

There was a sudden snigger from a nervous gentleman in the crowd at the back of the room, and the corner put on his glasses and stared sternly in the direction from which it came. The nervous gentleman hastily decided that the time had come to do up his bootlace. The corner put down his glasses and continued.

"Did anybody come out of the house while you were coming up the drive?"

"No."

"Thank you, Mr. Gillingham."

He was followed by Inspector Birch. The Inspector, realizing that this was his afternoon, and that the eyes of the world were upon him, produced a plan of the house and explained the situation of the different rooms. The plan was then handed to the jury.

Inspector Birch, so he told the world, had arrived at the Red House at 4:42 p. m. on the afternoon in question. He had been received by Mr. Matthew Cayley, who had made a short statement to him, and he had then proceeded to examine the scene of the crime.

The French windows had been forced from outside. The door leading into the hall was locked, he had searched the room thoroughly and had found no trace of a key. In the bedroom leading out of the office he had found an open window. There were no marks on the window, but it was a low one, and, as he found from experiment, quite easy to step out of without touching it with the boots.

A few yards outside the window a shrubbery began. There were no recent footmarks outside the window, but the ground was in a very hard condition owing to the absence of rain. In the shrubbery, however, he found several tracks on the ground, recently broken off, together with other evidence that some body had been forcing its way through.

He had questioned everybody connected with the estate, and none of them had been into the shrubbery recently. By forcing a way through the shrubbery it was possible for a person to make a detour of the house and get to the Stanton end of the park without ever being in sight of the house itself.

He had made inquiries about the deceased. Deceased had left for Australia some fifteen years ago, owing to some financial trouble at home. Deceased was never spoken of in the village from which he and his brother had come. Deceased and his brother had never been on good terms, and the fact that Mark Ablett had come in to money had been a cause of great bitterness between them. It was shortly after this that Robert had left for Australia.

He had made inquiries at Stanton station. It had been market-day at Stanton and the station had been more full of arrivals than usual. No body had particularly noticed the arrival of Robert Ablett; there had been a good many passengers by the 2:10 train that afternoon, the train by which Robert had undoubtedly come from London. A witness, however, would state that he noticed a man resembling Mark Ablett at the station at 3:53 that afternoon, and this man caught the 3:55 up train to town.

There was a pond in the grounds of the Red House. He had dragged this, but without result.

Anthony listened to him carefully, thinking his own thoughts all the time. Medical evidence followed, but there was nothing to be got from that. He felt so close to the truth, at any moment something might give his brain the one little hint which it wanted. Inspector Birch was just pursuing the ordinary. Whatever else this case, it was not ordinary. There was something uncanny about it.

Anthony went on with his thoughts. The corner was summing up. The jury, he said, had now heard all the evidence. The medical evidence would probably satisfy them that Robert Ablett had died from the effects of a bullet-wound in the head. Who had fired that bullet? If Robert Ablett had fired it himself, no doubt they would bring in a verdict of suicide, but if this had been so, where was the revolver which had fired it, and what had become of Mark Ablett?

The evidence that he had run away from the scene of the crime was strong. His cousin had seen him go into the room, the servant, Elsie Wood had heard him quarrelling with his brother in the room, the door had been locked from the inside, and there were signs that outside the open window someone had pushed his way very recently through the shrubbery. Who, if not Mark?

They would have then to consider whether he would have run away if he had been guilty of his brother's death. No doubt innocent people lost their heads sometimes. It was possible that if it were proved afterward that Mark Ablett had shot his brother, it might also be proved that he was justified in so doing, and that when he ran away from his brother's corpse he had really nothing to fear at the hands of the law. Mark Ablett guilty of murder it would not prejudice his trial in any way if and when he was apprehended. The jury would consider their verdict.

They considered it. They announced that the deceased had died as the result of a bullet-wound, and that the bullet had been fired by his brother, Mark Ablett.

Bill turned round to Anthony at his side. But Anthony was gone. Across the room he saw Andrew Amos and Parsons going out of the door together with Anthony between them.

CHAPTER XIX
The inquest had been held at the "Lamb" at Stanton; at Stanton Robert Ablett was to be buried the next day. Bill waited outside for his friend, wondering where he had gone.

Then, realizing that Cayley would be coming out to his car directly, and that a farewell talk with Cayley would be a little embarrassing, he wandered to the yard at the back of the inn, lit a cigarette, and stood surveying a torn and weatherbeaten poster on the stable wall, "Grand Theatrical Entertainment," it announced, to take place on "Wednesday, Decem."

Bill smiled to himself as he looked at it, for the part of Joe, a loquacious postman, had been played by "William B. Bever," as the remnants of the poster still maintained, and he had been much less loquacious than the author had intended, having forgotten his words completely, but it had all been great fun.

"Sorry to keep you waiting," said the voice of Anthony behind him. "My old friends Amos and Parsons insisted on giving me a drink."

He slipped his hand into the crook of Bill's arm, and smiled happily at him.

"Why were you so keen about them?" asked Bill a little resentfully. "I couldn't imagine where on earth you had got to."

Anthony didn't say anything. He was staring at the poster.

"When did this happen?" he asked. "What?"

Anthony waved to the poster. "Oh, that? Last Christmas. It was rather fun."

Anthony began to laugh to himself. "Rotten. I don't profess to be an actor."

"Mark good?"

"Oh, rather. He loves it."

"Rev. Henry Stutters—Mr. Matthew Cayley," read Anthony. "Was that our friend Cayley?"

"Yes."

"Well, much better than I expected. He wasn't keen, but Mark made him."

"Miss Norris wasn't playing, I see."

"My dear Tony, she's a professional. Of course she won't."

"I'm a fool, and a damned fool."

Anthony announced solemnly. "And a damned fool," he said again under his breath, as he led Bill away from the poster, and out of the yard into the new."

He broke off and then asked suddenly, "Did Mark ever have much trouble with his teeth?"

"He went to his dentist a good deal. But what on earth—"

Anthony laughed a third time. "What a luck!" he chuckled. "But how do you know?"

"We go to the same man; Mark recommended him to me, Cartwright, in Wimpole Street."

"Cartwright in Wimpole Street," repeated Anthony thoughtfully. "Yes, I can remember that. Cartwright in Wimpole Street. Did Cayley go to him too, by any chance?"

"I expect so. Oh, yes, I know he did. But what on earth—"

"What was Mark's general health like? Did he see a doctor much?"

"Hardly at all. I should think he did a lot of early morning exercises which were supposed to make him bright and cheerful at breakfast. They didn't do that, but they seemed to keep him pretty fit. Tony, I wish you'd—"

Anthony held up a hand and hushed him into silence.

"One last question," he said. "Was Mark fond of swimming?"

"No, he hated it. I don't believe he could swim. Tony, are you mad, or am I? Or is this a new game?"

Anthony squeezed his arm. "Dear old Bill," he said. "It's a game. What a game! And the answer is Cartwright in Wimpole Street."

They walked in silence for half a mile or so along the road to Woodham. Bill tried two or three times to get his friend to talk, but Anthony had only grunted in reply. He was just going to make another attempt, when Anthony came to a sudden stop and turned to him anxiously.

"I wonder if you'd do something for me," he said, looking at him with some doubt.

"What sort of thing?"

"Well, it's really dashed important. It's just the one thing I want now."

Bill was suddenly enthusiastic again. "I say, have you really found it all out?"

Anthony nodded. "At least, I'm very nearly there. Bill, there's just this one thing I want now. It means your going back to Stanton. Well, we haven't come far, it won't take you long. Do you mind?"

"My dear Holmes, I am at your service."

UNEARTH RUINS OF OLD CHRISTIAN MONASTERY

Belfast — The site of one of the earliest Christian monasteries in Ireland has been found at Mahee Island, Strangford Lough, near Belfast. The ruins have been identified as those of Nendrum monastery, mentioned in Muirchú's "Life of St. Patrick," written before 689 A. D.

Extensive excavations have been carried out and valuable material, including some stones with writing, the exact meaning of which has not yet been ascertained, have been unearthed. Some of the writings are believed to be of Danish origin.

In Gede's "Ecclesiastical History" it is recorded that in 634 Pope Honorius wrote to certain bishops of the Irish church about the Paschal controversy and Pelagian heresy, and one of the bishops mentioned in this letter is Cromous, Bishop of Nendrum. The island of Nendrum was afterwards named Mahee, after a bishop of the monastery.

ROTARIANS HERE TOO STRONG FOR GREEN BAY CLUB

"Athletic" Meet is Soft Picking For Appleton Rotary Club

However talented Green Bay Rotarians may be in business, on the stage or on the platform, they are a sorry looking lot on the athletic field. About 30 of Green Bay's "finest" came to Appleton Tuesday afternoon, confident that anything from "The Bay" could set the pace for the rest of the world but before Old Sol had sent his last shining ray into Albia park, the chesty invaders had been reduced to a humbled, bedraggled aggregation of ordinary mortals, suffering with every kind of stiffness and soreness that sedentary man is subject to.

EASY VICTORY
Appleton's Rotators downed the visitors by a score of 58 to 16, capturing every event on the afternoon program except the 40 yard dash and the horse shoe pitching. The Baymen sent their whole club into the field in an effort to win the baseball game but they were swamped under a 29 to 5 score. Lothar Graef threw a mean ball which stood the visitors on their heads while Green Bay couldn't find a hurler who could even locate the plate. Stiles Vaughn furnished the sensation of the afternoon when he landed on his ear after a hard hit ball whalloped him in the shins.

There wasn't a thing to the hurdle race. The local men took that with ease but they ran into a lot of opposition in the 40 yard dash. Joe Horner, who used to own a few records when he went to school, won the race for Green Bay, but "Red" Tippet and George Wettengel kind of evened up matters by taking second and third. George was just a few feet from the starting line when Horner finished but that was good enough to take third.

"Cub" Buck, who looks fat but isn't, topped the fat men's race, with Doc Olmstead of Green Bay finishing second. Louis Benin wouldn't run and a lot of his fellow Rotators believe Appleton might have won both places if he had entered.

Leap frog was a lot of fun for the fellows looking on but kind of rough for the fellows in it. It developed into a stumble and roll race, with Appleton stumbling and rolling faster than the enemy.

Tippet and Saecker showed the way to the rest of the contestants in the three-legged race, winning with ease. A Green Bay outfit finished second. The tug of war and the shotput also went to Appleton.

Masse and Witteborg of the enemy team were too much for the locals in larnyard golf. Masse pitched a wicked shoe, registering ringers with lots of regularity.

Save Gas And Reduce Drain On Coal Supply

Gas companies are saving every pound of coal they can during the present coal shortage, and housewives are urged to cooperate with them by practicing economy in burning gas, according to a warning issued by the American Gas association. Here are specific ways in which the public is asked to help.

Don't use open-flame gas lights. Equip burners with mantles. They save gas.

Turn off the gas before, instead of after, removing the cooking utensil. Don't permit a gas flame to overlap the sides of a vessel.

Always boil water in a covered tea-kettle. When the water comes to a boiling point, turn down the gas.

Plan your cooking so that one burner or one oven cooks more than one article of food at the same time. Remember that it takes no more gas to cook twelve potatoes than it does to cook six.

Don't use the giant burner on your gas range when a smaller burner will do. Also see that your gas flame is blue in color. Yellow or white flames are wasteful.

Be careful what kinds of cooking utensils you use. Bake in tin pans instead of sheet iron or agate pans. Don't use the oven or broiler to toast a small quantity of bread. Use a small toaster.

Never light the gas for top cooking until everything is ready.

The Rev. J. L. Menzer of the German Methodist church left Tuesday for Almond where he will attend the conference of the Chicago German district.

SENATE VOTES WAR INTEREST FOR BONUS

foreign debt interest has been the thought uppermost in the minds of those who drafted it. It was brought out repeatedly that the interest from the British debt alone, aggregating $200,000,000 annually would be sufficient in 20 years to pay the total cost of the bonus provided that does not exceed the most recent estimates. Disappointed over their failure to get a vote Tuesday senate leaders Wednesday had quit guessing as to when final action would come. Five amendments still are pending and in addition half a dozen or more senators, some of them just back from campaign trips, want to speak.

APPROVE USE OF INTEREST
Without a record vote the senate approved on Tuesday the use of the interest on the foreign debt in financing the soldier bonus. Also it substituted the Smith-McNary $350,000,000 reclamation bill for the land settlement option in the house measure.

The McNary land reclamation amendment to the soldiers' bonus bill was approved on Tuesday by the senate, 43 to 26.

All party and even sectional lines disappeared on the roll call, except that all senators from the far west voted for the amendment. Opposing the McNary land reclamation amendment to the soldiers' bonus bill, Senator McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, in charge of the measure, told the senate on Tuesday that the proposal would add hundreds of millions and perhaps billions of dollars to the cost of the bonus program.

Another warning to friends of the bonus that the addition of the reclamation project might furnish an "additional reason" for an executive veto was given by Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin. He argued that the reclamation project was important enough to be considered separately on its merits.

Send Graass To Congress

The voters of the Ninth District have the opportunity to send to Congress a man to represent them who has not only the energy but also the ability—to do things

JUDGE HENRY GRAASS, GREEN BAY

"HE FAVORS THE SOLDIER BONUS"
"WOULD FIND SUBSTITUTE FOR STRIKES"
"WOULD WORK FOR OCEAN WATERWAY"

THE FOLLOWING IS AN EXCERPT FROM A STATEMENT GIVEN TO THE PEOPLE OF THIS DISTRICT BY JUDGE GRAASS ON AUGUST 23:

"I believe in labor unions and their right to collective bargaining — at present they claim their only remedy for the injustice and wrongs is 'a strike' which entails a loss of earnings and profits for all concerned and brings good or gain to no one.

"Some method—or power—should be devised whereby labor should be as powerful as capital and can secure its rights without strike which brings no goods to any one. Both labor and capital should work under the law and justice should be meted out to both. Some just such method should be adopted under the law that would safeguard labor's rights without necessitating the loss caused by strikes."

DALE SWITCHES PLAYERS FOR BLACK CREEK GAME

Nemon To Hurl In Place Of Duschenski; Creek Lineup Strengthened

Outagamie County League Teams Promise Interesting Exhibition For Next Sunday Afternoon.

William F. Nemon is Dale's next pitcher. The first baseman has been assigned the hurling duties by Manager H. Seifert for next Sunday's game at Black Creek.

There are a number of other changes in the Dale lineup and all intended for one purpose—beat Black Creek and win back third place in the Outagamie County league. However, a strategic move has also been made by Manager F. Black who intends to spoil the beautiful plans of his guests.

DUSCHENSKI OFF LIST

Duschenski who has been throwing the pill for Dale up to this time has been removed from the list. It is understood that his weakening in the eighth inning in the game with Inter-lakes last Sunday has resulted in the action. Nemon was resorted to in the last part of the eighth to halt the Inter-lake players and he did the trick.

Hunsinger will be on the receiving end for Dale and his boots on the rightfield will be filled by H. Geibel, a new face on the Dale lineup. Peck, as usual will guard the third sack; A. Witt, left field. W. Witt, second base. H. Cannon, will play shortstop. First base left open by Nemon will be taken care of by C. Cannon. There is one vacancy to be filled and that is centerfield. O'Hannlon, Manager Seifert announced, will not play with Dale again.

Hunsinger will catch in place of Kuehl as the latter will be forced to be out of the city next Sunday.

The important change in the Black Creek lineup will be the return of Lane to the game. Lane will replace Servatius on the third sack and Servatius will go to second. Lane, it will be remembered broke a bone in the arm in the game at Kaukauna August 20. The third sacker announces that he is certain he will be in condition to pick up his regular duties Sunday.

The balance of the Black Creek lineup will be as follows:

Bramon, pitcher; Perry, catcher; Gruenwald, centerfield; Huhn, leftfield; McGovern, first base; Crawley, shortstop; Mills, rightfield.

WOMEN GOLFERS FINISH SEMI-FINALS TODAY

Semi-finals of the annual women's golf tournament at the Riverview Country club were scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. C. C. Hackley was to play Miss Doris Kerwin and Miss Arline Edmonds was matched with Mrs. Paul Scallion.

The winners of Wednesday's rounds will play again Saturday for the club medal.

Schnitt Schneider didn't stick around very long with the Brewers as he has been sent to the Louisville club of the Three Eye league for further seasoning. The former Rip on star is a clean living youngster and if he gets half a chance in or organized baseball, that first ball of his will help him climb the ladder. Schneider should go back in the "hushes."

AT IT AGAIN

MAURICE M'LOUGHLIN

Followers of tennis are watching with greatest interest the remarkable "comeback" of Maurice McLoughlin, former world's singles and doubles champion, as demonstrated in his play at the California tennis championship tournament. His strokes showed him to be the McLoughlin of old, in the days of 1914, when he won over Norman Brooks and Arthur Wilding, the famous Australian champions.

SEVEN VETERANS RETURN TO BELOIT ELEVEN THIS YEAR

Entirely New Line, However, is Predicted — Training Starts Sept. 11

Beloit—Seven veterans of the Beloit college 1921 football squad will return to school. They are reporting for fall training on September 11. In addition there will be more than 25 other candidates, including a score of former high school stars, when Coach "Tommy" Mills blows the whistle. Coach E. J. Osgood, 1915 captain at Grinnell, will again be assistant coach and have charge of the line.

Beloit will have an entirely new line this year, according to the coach.

The schedule this year opens with DeKalb normal September 30 here. The second game, with Northwestern university at Evanston, is expected to be one of the most interesting of the season, as last year the Best boys took the North Shore lads into camp by a score of 7 to 0.

The two games to decide the Badger championship will be on October 21, when Lawrence college plays here, and on November 18 when Beloit goes to Ripon.

Beloit last year captured every college state title except in football and this year has determined to turn out a team that will make them state champions on the gridiron as well as in other sports.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Major Griffith, the "Landis" of the Big Ten, has opened headquarters in Chicago. He is welcome to his job as there are plenty of breakers ahead. The Conference sport director is known for his square dealings and he is a stickler for simon pure amateurism. It is a good bet that conference foot ballers will stick to their own knitting and stay at home Sundays.

Ban Johnson gave the New York Yanks just what they deserved for stalling around in the Chicago game on Aug. 1. Huggins and his crew was trailing behind the Pale Hose in the early innings when it began to rain and in order to escape a defeat they "pussified" to kill time and prevent the four and a half innings bonus played out. Quite often the major league ball players seem to forget that sportsmanship is still supposed to cut a figure in the national game.

Jack Kearns has spiked the rumor that he had received a half million dollars offer to put Jack Dempsey in a Mexico City ring against Jack Johnson. We don't think that even the Mericans would stand for a bout of this kind. The further the colored giant is kept away from flaccid bouts with the headliners the better off it will be for the sport. Johnson is past history, let some of the younger fellows have a chance at Dempsey's crown.

From the looks of things, Boston has a sure hold on the cellar berth in both big leagues. The beauntown managers should get together and stage a world series all of their own between the Braves and Red Sox. Both teams have slumped badly of late and there doesn't seem to be much chance of them getting out of the ruck as the big league season has just about entered the last lap. It is easy to figure what's wrong with the Red Sox but the Braves ailment is rather a difficult one to solve, because at times they have looked like a first division aggregation.

Brewers And Kaukauna Play Before Monster Crowd At Booster Game

Lane and Davey Compose Battery for Fox River Valley League Players—Milwaukee Has Strong Lineup.

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Kaukauna — With enough tickets sold in advance to assure a record breaking crowd, the Milwaukee Brewers of the American association were scheduled to play Kaukauna Fox River Valley players at the Kaukauna diamond at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Business houses closed for the afternoon in accordance with the plans of the "booster" committee which arranged for the game. Fans from Appleton, Kimberly, Combined Locks, New London, Brillon and in fact every town within many miles were expected at the game.

The Brewers arrived with most members of their regular lineup. It was unknown up to the last minute whom Manager Clark would send on the mound. Rose or Schneider were to be chosen.

McCarthy Brautigan sent his men through practice earlier in the day. His particular desires was to acquaint the veterans with the habits of Lane, Scanlon and Weidell, who were to make their debut with Kaukauna. The trio will remain with the Kaukauna organization providing they do as well as Manager Brautigan has known them to be able to accomplish when he played with them last year in the Winnipeg circuit. Lane and Davey were booked as the battery.

STATE LEAGUE NOTES

Green Bay, Wis.—Smithson's super pitching against the Appleton club is the talk of the circuit. The Bay pitcher turned in a no-hit no-run game against Sylvester's team and only 20 men faced him.

Sherbarth, who had a try out with the Toledo Mudhens, is now playing the shortfield for Manitowoc. The Milwaukeean looked good in his first game against Menasha, getting a timely hit and fielding well.

Menasha worked a new slab artist, Kreuz against the Shipbuilders. His wildness got him in trouble in the first three innings. Kreuz celebrated his initial appearance at bat with a home run wallop.

Tim Jordan has replaced Johnny Hughes behind the leg for Manitowoc. The big backstop still has got a couple of good pegs left in his throwing wing and in the first two games, he was a demon with the stick.

Weissgerber, the veteran Menasha center gardener, is one of the best ground coverers in the state league circuit. He has been showing much improved form of late while at bat, getting many sound wallops.

Joe Reik continues to batter the horsehide for Green Bay. The North-erner's "Babe Ruth" slammed one so hard into right field in the Appleton game that it bounced over the fence for a home run.

Jimmy Britz, who is captaining the Manitowoc club, never seems to grow old. He has as much pep as the newest recruit and his fighting tactics are keeping the Shipbuilders in the race for the bunting.

MATCH CADDIES ON GOLF COURSE

The Riverview Country club boasts of coming champions among its caddies.

Two stars shine on the Appleton course. They are Frank DeQuire and Martin Gosz. The pair has already annexed some honors. Only two weeks ago it beat two lads at the Green Bay golf club.

The pair will journey Friday morning to Oshkosh and will engage in a "friendly" match with two caddies from the Oshkosh Country club. One of their opponents is George Buchanan who is playing some promising golf when he isn't busy hunting the stray balls.

BABE SOCKS 27TH HOMER AS YANKS BEAT WASHINGTON

Pipp's Homerun Also Needed With Final Score Only 3 to 1

New York—The New York infield gave Sam Jones remarkable support on Tuesday and the American league champions defeated Washington in the first contest of a three game series, 3 to 1. The Yankees hit Johnson freely, especially in the early innings, but needed home runs by Pipp and Ruth to score two of their three runs. It was Ruth's twenty seventh home run of the season. Peckinpaugh collided with Jones in the fourth inning and had to leave the game.

Batteries: Johnson and Gharitty and Picinich; Jones and Schang.

MACKS WIN 6 TO 5

Philadelphia—Galloway's homer in the tenth gave Philadelphia a 6 to 5 victory over Boston on Tuesday. Philadelphia made an uphill fight and in the eighth Tillie Walker tied the score at five runs with his thirty-second home run of the season. This places him in a tie with Kenneth Williams and Rogers Hornsby. Tom mell turned in his twentieth pitching victory of the year and Bing Miller made his eighteenth home run.

SOX WIN IN TENTH

Detroit—Sheely's home run over the scoreboard with Johnson on base, won a ten inning game for Chicago here on Tuesday, 5 to 3 after Detroit had maintained the lead for seven innings.

Batteries: Leverett and Schalk; Olson, Oldham and Bassler.

ST. LOUIS WHIPS CLEVELAND

Cleveland — After holding the Browns to one hit in seven and two third innings, Uhle blew up, walking two, hitting another and allowing four hits, all of which produced five runs and gave St. Louis a 6 to 4 victory. Connolly, outfielder recruit from Little Rock played center in place of Manager Speaker whose knee is in trouble. He played brilliantly and made one hit.

Batteries: Van Gilder, Kolp and Severoid; Edwards, Uhle and O'Neill.

HIGH COAL TO BOOST FORD $1.50, HOOVER

By Associated Press
Washington—Present coal prices would only add $1.50 to the price of Ford cars, Secretary Hoover declared Tuesday in expressing the hope that the Detroit Automobile manufacturer would find it unnecessary to close his plant because of the price of fuel.

Mr. Hoover said he noted that Mr. Ford considered $450 a ton a reasonable price for coal, and that the Detroit manufacturer could obtain it now at $6.50. Figuring on the basis of 35,000 tons, and used a day, Mr. Hoover estimated that even under present prices the increase per Ford car would only be about $1.50.

Legislation now pending, Mr. Hoover added, probably would provide price control machinery that could go into operation within a few days of September 16, the date set by Mr. Ford for shutting down his plants.

A Distinctive Quality Appreciated by men who know;

CUBS GET FIRM HOLD ON SECOND RUNG; BEAT CARDS

Thirty-four Players Used as Chicago Wallops St. Louis

St. Louis—Chicago strengthened its hold on second place on Tuesday by defeating St. Louis, 15 to 11, in the first game of the series. Thirty-four players participated in the contest, and each side used five pitchers. In the eighth Grimes hit into the left field bleachers for a homer, scoring behind Terry.

Batteries: Kaufman, Osborne, Steu land, Jones, Alexander and O'Farrell Sherdel, Pertica, North, Barfoot, Pfeffer and Clemons and Ainsmith.

DIVIDE DOUBLEHEADER

Pittsburg—Superb pitching featured the doubleheader which Pittsburg and Brooklyn divided here on Tuesday. The Dodgers won the first, 3 to 2, and the Pirates took the second contest, 6 to 0.

The opener was a thrilling duel between Hurston and Ruetheer but the breaks went against the former. Neus drove a sharp liner to right, the ball hopped into the bleachers for a home run.

Adams' perfect control far offset Cadore's speed in the second contest. Batteries: Cadore, Ruetheer and De Berry and Miller, Adams, Hamilton and Schmidt and Gooch.

NEENAH STARTS ON CAGE SEASON

Twin City Boosters, Central Wisconsin Champions, Begin Plans Early

Neenah — With baseball nearing deathpunch for the season of 1922 and the heralding of football already in the wind, it isn't amiss to start thinking about the coming basketball season, at least that's what Managers C. E. Garhardt and Edgar Jones of the Twin City Boosters, champions for the coming season, and report probable league, have decided. They have 1922 of the Central Wisconsin basketball already begun to line up matters for prospects are bright.

Manager Garhardt has already called in the suits of the Legion aggregation, and other preliminary arrangements have been put under way.

Whether the local five will affiliate itself with the Central Wisconsin league maintaining its franchise, which it still holds, in the circuit, is still a matter, it is said, of doubt. The entire matter, it is said, has sifted down to that one feature and on its final disposal will rest considerable importance.

Every effort will be made to give Neenah-Menasha another championship quiet and with the reputation the twin cities holds, there should be no doubt but that the personnel of the Twin City Boosters will in the coming season outlive even the steel lineup of last winter.

Baseball's Biggest Bones

When two base runners are standing on the same base there is often confusion in the mind of the fielder as to which runner he should touch in order to retire one of them.

A base always belongs to the original occupant unless he is forced to vacate. When two runners are the result of some play end up on the same bag, it belongs to the original occupant, except as above noted.

The proper play for the fielder to make is to touch the runner other than the original occupant. That retires him, even though he is standing on the bag when touched.

A peculiar situation along these lines developed in a game played at Boston in 1912 between the Athletics and the Red Sox. These two teams were fighting for the pennant that year, the Red Sox finally nosing out Connie Mack's team.

In the game in question the Athletics filled the bases, with two out. Cady was catching for Boston. A snap throw from Cady to Wagner, who was playing short, caught the Philadelphia runner off second. He immediately dashed for third and the runner on third started for home. A wild throw to the plate permitted all three runs to score. It was a costly touch.

Wagner then threw the ball to Cady at the plate, who ran the runner on third back to that base. The play finally ended with two runners on third and one on second. Cady touched the runner who was originally on third and then tossed the ball into the center of the diamond.

Of course the base belonged to that runner. He was exempt from being put out. Touching him meant nothing. The moment that Cady threw the ball into the infield, the two runners on third started for the plate, as did the runner on second. A wild throw to the plate permitted all three runs to score. It was a costly touch.

GENERAL MOTORS HAS COAL TO KEEP RUNNING

By Associated Press
Detroit, Mich. — Detroit manufacturers were considerably heartened today by announcement from Charles S. Mot, vice president of the General Motors Corporation one of the most important industries of this district that the corporation had a supply of coal sufficient to maintain present production for about 30 days.

The announcement banished in part at least the fear felt here that a general industrial shutdown was impending following Henry Ford's decision to close his plants Sept. 16.

He asserted his concern employed between 75,000 and 100,000 men in the various plants located in Michigan and other states. He said "hundreds of thousands" of other workers employed by concerns dependent upon General Motors for materials would be thrown out of employment should the corporation's coal problem become acute.

AMERICAN GOODS CROWDS EUROPEAN TRADE MARKS

U. S. Army Left Enormous Amounts of Supplies to Be Sold in Europe

By Associated Press
Riga—The so called "thieves markets" of Europe are today crowded with the product of American factories. When the American army went home, enormous stocks of equipment of various kinds were disposed of in France and Germany, by sale and otherwise, and much of this surplus has found its way to the many open air gatherings of the continent where men and women bargain for a miscellaneous mass of articles under the tacit understanding that one must not inquire whence the things come.

In the market at Riga, covering an area of two blocks, there are offered for sale daily large quantities of United States army paraphernalia, particularly clothing, and sanitary articles bearing the names of different American relief organizations. American phonographs give daily concerts of American airs, which invariably attract the crowds from the music of competitors with their German machines playing Russian tunes. American sewing machines, too, are on sale in some stalls, and in others there are American made knives and forks vying with German, Polish and Russian manufactured goods of the same kind. Also there are thousands of old and worn collars, still carrying the mark which gives their birthplace as Troy, New York.

The purchaser takes his pick at his own price, provided he can reach an understanding with the polyglot storekeeper, who will bargain with him in any one of the four or five languages now current in the streets of Riga.

HEARING FOR HIGHER PAY FACES MORE DELAYS

By Associated Press
Chicago, Ill.—Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the Railroad Labor board, announced Wednesday as the hearing of the application of maintenance of way men on more than 100 railroads for an increase in minimum rates of pay opened, that no decision in the case would be rendered until all the members of the labor group of board members have returned to Chicago. Albert Phillips is with his wife in Ill. in California and W. L. McMenimen is away on a vacation. They are expected to return about the middle of September.

Before the hearing it was learned that E. F. Grable, president of the maintenance of waymen was slightly ill at his hotel and might not attend the morning session. J. C. Smock, vice president of the union, appeared in Mr. Grable's stead.

BEER RUNNERS SOUGHT FOR REVOLVER BATTLE

Chicago—Two notorious beer runners, according to police were sought Wednesday in connection with a pistol battle said to have been fought Tuesday night. Between guards of three trucks supposed to have been loaded with beer and a rival band. The police suspect that beer runners may have been responsible for the killing of Albert Schultz, a former saloonkeeper, and wounding of police Sergeant Edward McAvoy and John Horan, owner of a coffee shop.

The wounded men and the body of Schultz were taken to a hospital in a bullet-riddled automobile. The wounded men asserted they were fired upon by two unidentified men in an automobile at a point 20 miles northwest of the city. They said they knew nothing of a fight involving beer runners.

Horan, one of the wounded declared the shooting was a result of an attempt to rob him and his companions.

My! It's GREAT TO GET BACK TO SCHOOL

This Is SCHOOL Week

With Bargain Offerings and Brand New Apparel for Mothers to See---

NEXT TUESDAY John and Joe and Bill, Alice and Mary Jane and Sarah, will all enjoy going to school again. One of the big reasons for that enjoyment will be the new clothes that mother buys this week. These clothes will be durable enough to play in—and pretty enough to enjoy. The Children's Store is just chuck-full of clothes that will make school days happy.

Lovely things for girls are found on the fourth floor and in the Basement. All boys' clothes are down in the Basement.

Two Little Girls for School

Down in the corner is a picture of Alice and Mary Jane—two little girls who are having a wonderful time at school. Of course, Alice has a bag of goodies—but what she likes best of all is her new dress. It is made of serge, trimmed with silk braid. $10. Mary Jane has a blue chambray dress. It was $2.75. Others are $3.75.

Alice Wouldn't you like a nice new hat to wear to school? An awfully pretty one of felt—trimmed with a quill feather is only $1.95 in the millinery department.

The shoe section has new school shoes at low prices, too.

Mary Jane Tomorrow Mary Jane will wear a middie blouse. Fine ones are as low as $1.50 on the fourth floor here.

She has a new sweater, too. A nice warm one to wear to school (with pockets) will cost $5. on this floor.

Sarah Whispers to Bill—"Say Bill—you certainly look fine today." That's not only what she thinks, but it's also a hint for Bill to look at her. You see, Sarah has a new gingham dress that looks as nice as Bill's new blouse. Sarah's gingham dress came from the Basement Sale.

Gingham Dresses Reduced Girls' gingham dresses, in all sizes, and made of good materials are greatly reduced. $1.69 dresses are $1.19. $1.39 dresses are 98c.

These prices are very low—and mother doesn't have to go to the trouble of making them.

Middy blouses in plain colors—some with colored collars of Galatea or wool are shown in all sizes.

The sale prices are 79c, 98c, $1.29 and $1.98.

Bloomer dresses, of good materials are reduced from $1.69 to $1.19.

Children's fine quality mercerized hose in brown and black. All sizes. 33c a pair.
